

Columbia Community Childcare Options

The chart below briefly lists some of the infant and toddler programs available near both the Morningside and Health Sciences campuses. These facilities were chosen by proximity and use by faculty. Those designated as university-affiliated programs receive support from Columbia, are operated by either a parents' board or a board of trustees, and require that teachers be certified by the New York City Board of Education. Columbia University does not endorse, recommend, or rank any other schools or services on this list. Instead this list is meant to provide some information on childcare options in the city. Please contact the individual facilities to discuss choosing the right setting for your child.
